Our Approach

Creating experiences based on people.

Innovation Strategy

With our unique innovation strategy and consulting, we help you take your offerings to the next levels. Why keep offering the same services when you give your customer the next disruptive innovation offering? We help you proactively focus on customers' pain points and address them effectively.

Experience Design

One of the fundamentals of successful product development is creating a valuable user experience with flawless user interface and an experience which is both functional and scalable. Roars ensures that it sticks to this fundamental principle in all its projects and through all its efforts.

Agile Development

Product development although a planned process, often navigates from its course of workflow due to the many alterations and adaptations that are required.

The President's Club

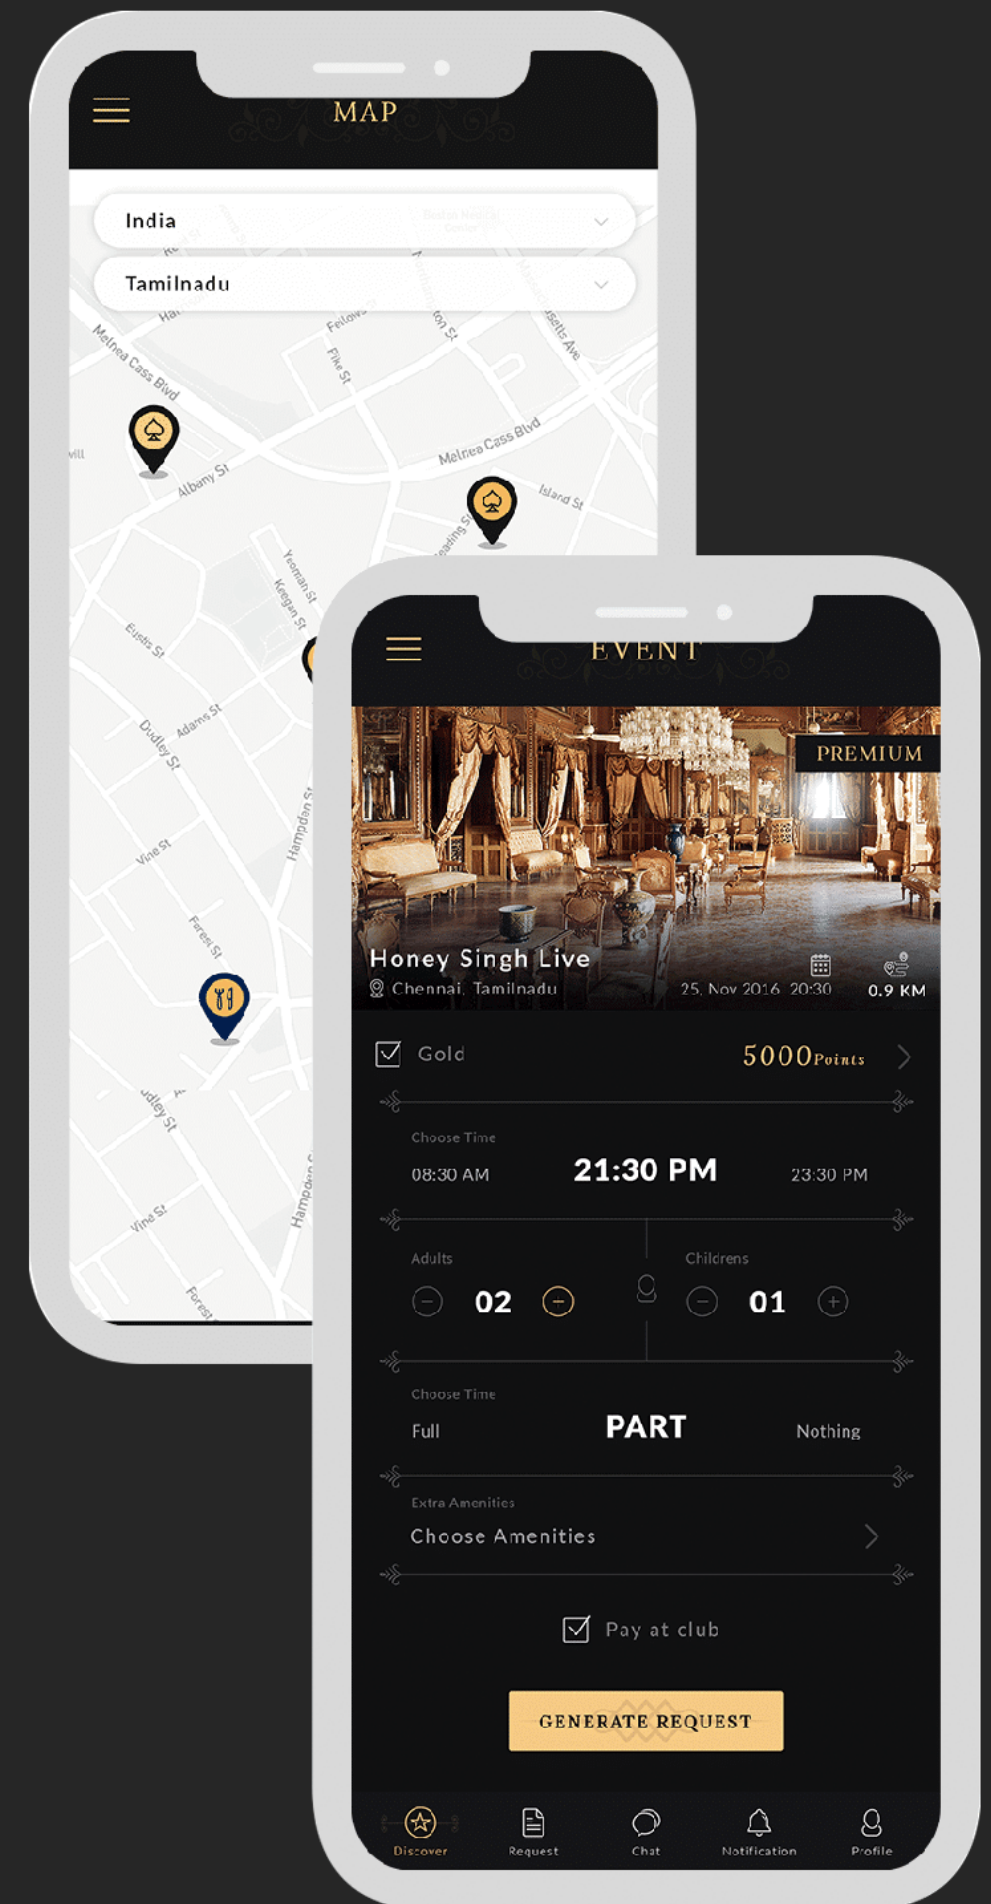

The President's Club is a loyalty reward program app, a concept created by Samsung, to honor its loyal partners

Samsung wanted to thank their loyal patrons for their continued trust, partnership, and association, helping it to be a market leader in its industry.

It is this idea of sustaining and strengthening the client-vendor relationship that companies come up with special memberships. Loyalty reward program apps are created to reward loyal clients for their dedication to a brand and for always being a returning customer.

Community Social

As the numbers of gated communities increase, there is an increasing need to manage the resources housed therein.

Some of the communities that house multiple high-rises, with more than 300-350 people living in each building, make utility management a mammoth task. Residents generally use communication channels like emails and Whatsapp nowadays to address this problem. Through these mediums they can keep everyone connected and informed.

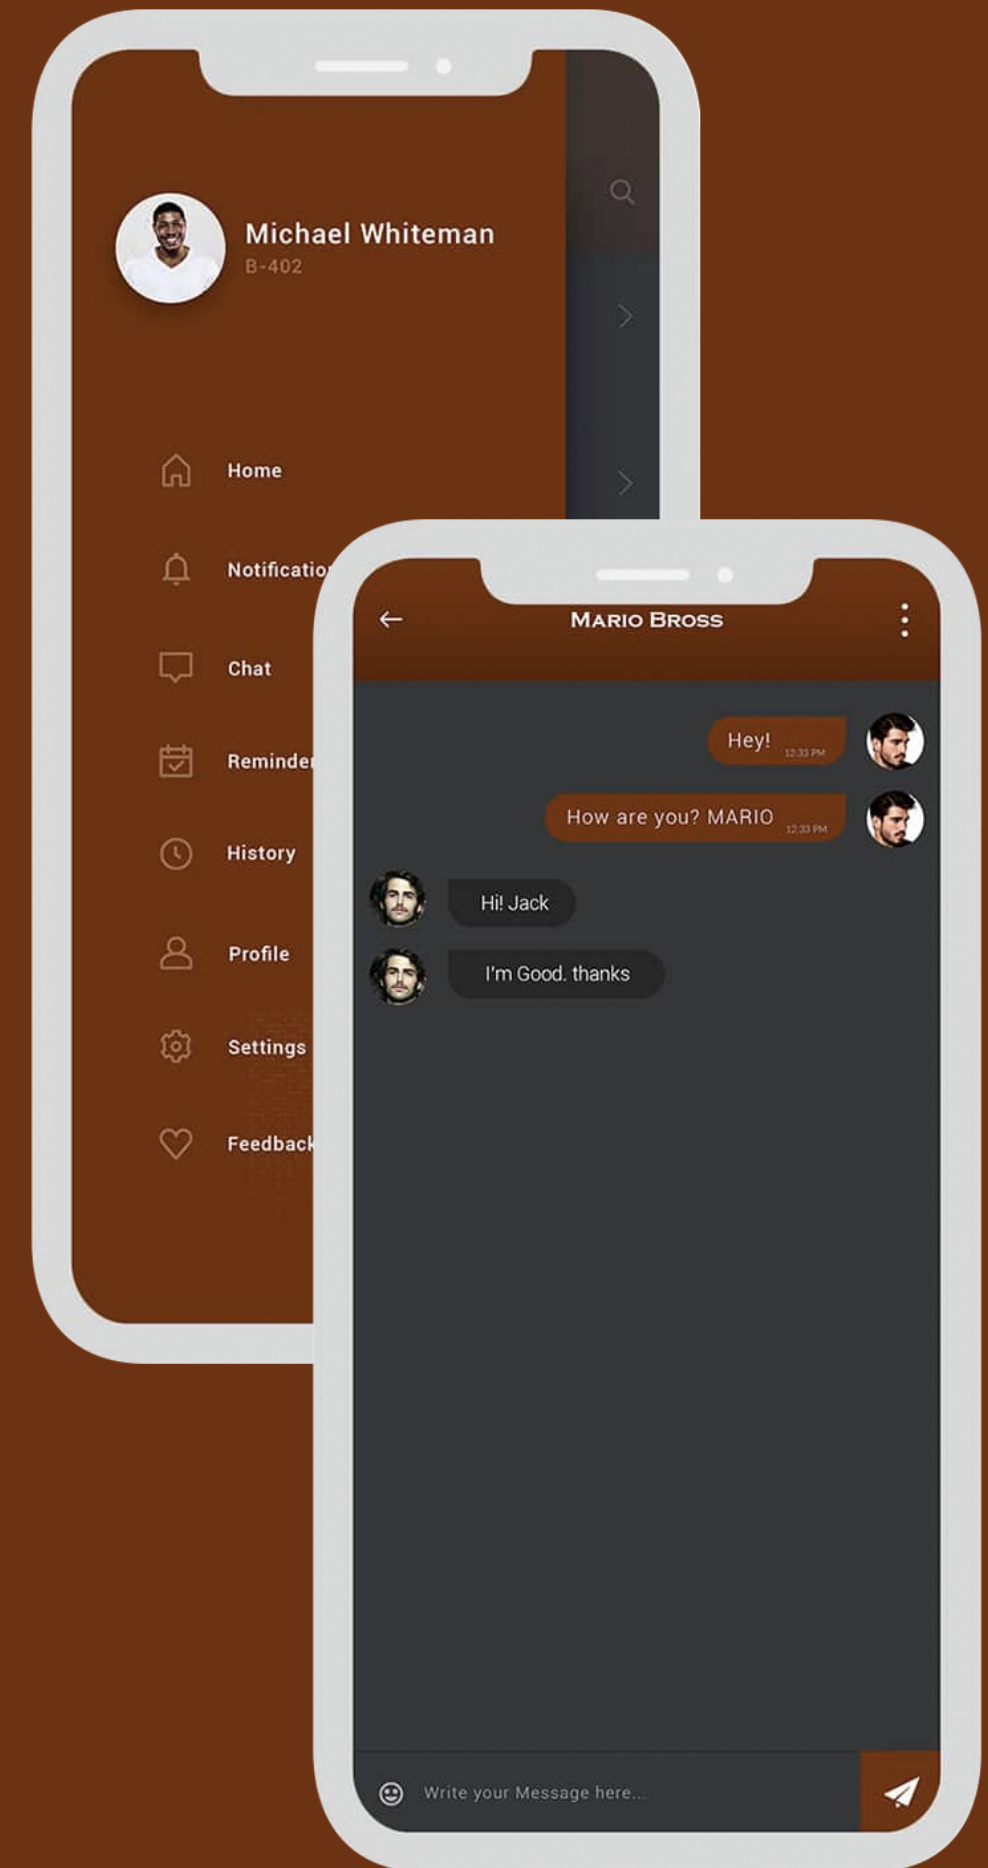

Neither of the two mediums help in handling RSVPs, schedules, calendars, or features like outsourcing services.

Go Champions Go

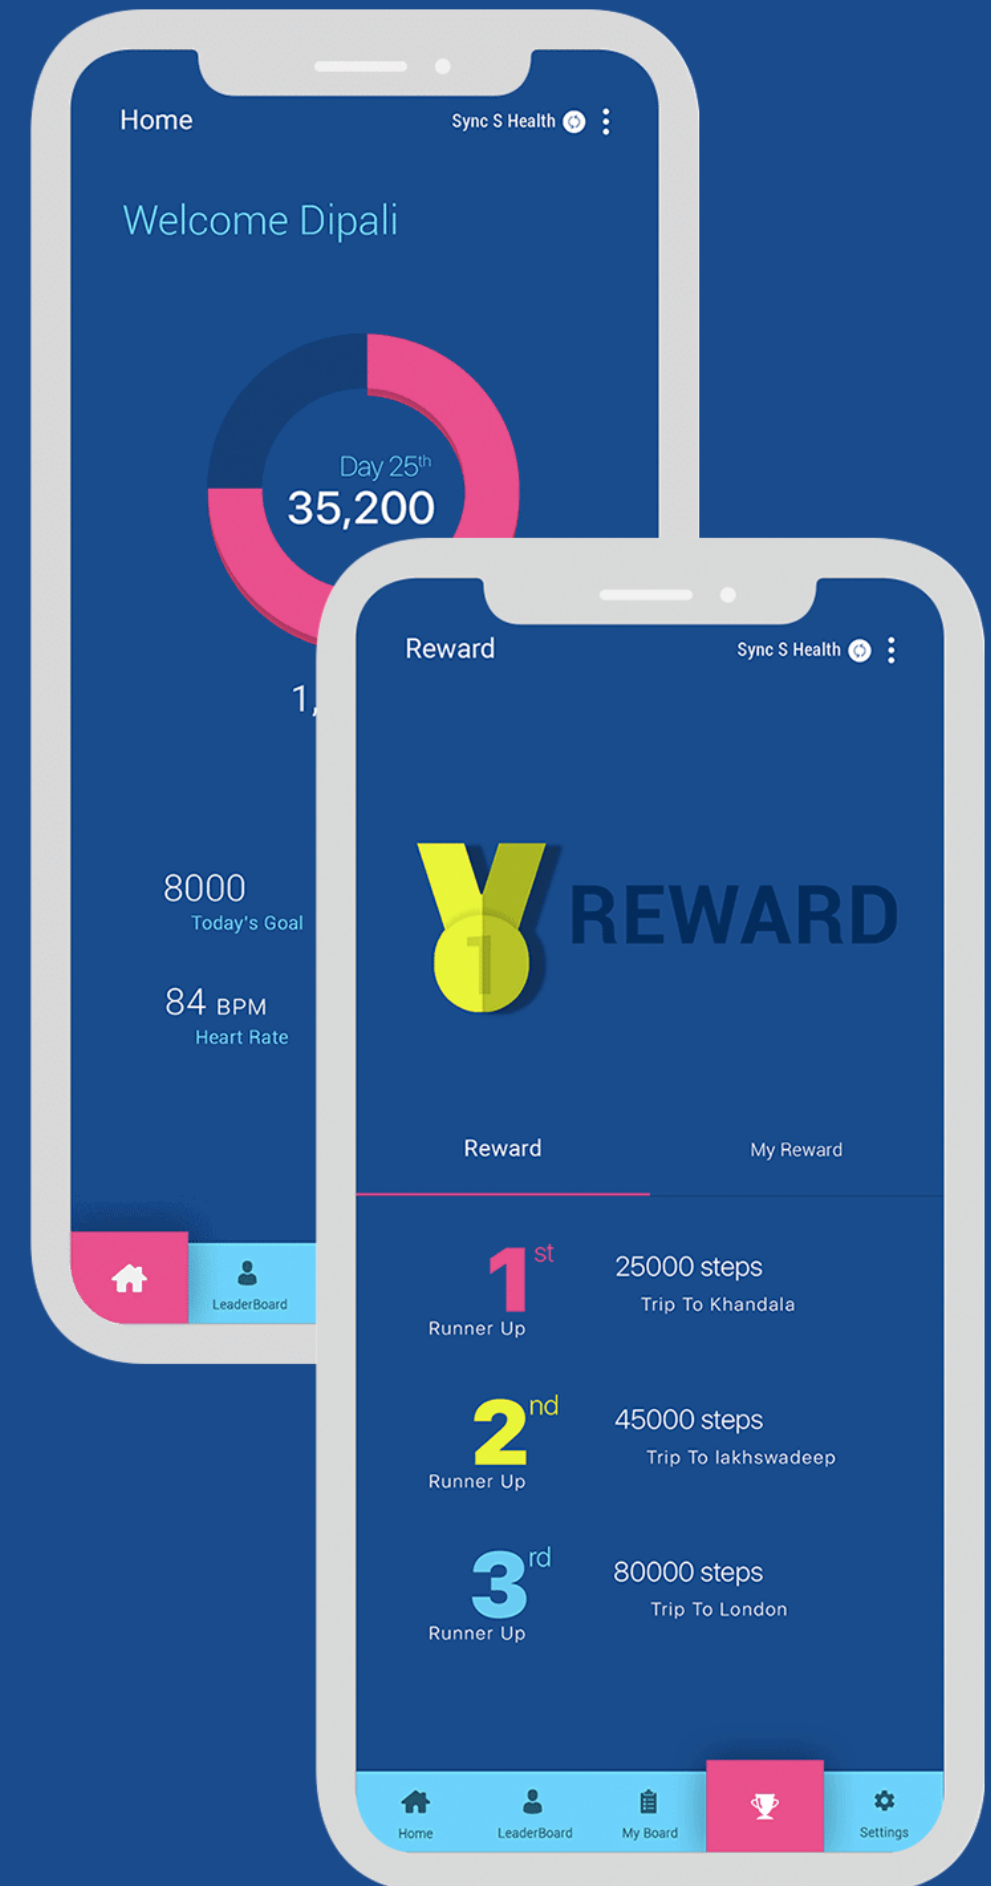

This app takes a proactive approach towards ensuring better employee health and fitness levels.

They organize parties, outings, flash mobs, and provide health insurance schemes to take care of that. However, our client came up with a more direct approach that makes working towards good health a task of the employees.

It makes more sense, as their fitness ultimately lies in their hands. To make this idea work, our product development team brainstormed with the clients to create the Go champions go app.
